PREPARATION AND SUBMISSION OF MANUSCRIPTS

The Journal of Intercultural Disciplines publishes scholarly contributions within any academic field that facilitates understanding of the experience and behavior of populations of color, both in the United States of America and other countries. This includes reports of empirical research, discussions of current literature, original theoretical analyses of data, or literary productions, studies or programs. The Journal publishes the most selective work presented from the organizations' annual conference and national/international submissions.

All manuscripts must comply with the following requirements: (1) have a maximum length of 18 pages; (2) include a 25-30 word abstract; (3) be double-spaced (including references) and provide a one-inch margin on all sides; (4) have written only on the first page: author's (authors') name, address, email address, and the subject area that the manuscript reflects (African American Studies, Asian Studies, Curriculum and Instruction, Counseling, Latin American Studies, Native American Studies, Psychology, etc.); (5) be submitted in Times New Roman font size 12; (6) be submitted electronically (natlaffiliates@earthlink.net); (7) use the most recent edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA) as a manual for style and manuscript format. Authors bear responsibility for the accuracy of references, tables, and figures; (8) use guidelines to reduce bias in language against persons on the basis of gender, sexual orientation, racial, or ethnic group of reference, disability, or age by referring to the APA publication manual; (9) do not submit material that has been previously published or that is under consideration with another periodical; and (10) have permission for lengthy quotations (300-500 words). It is required to have written permission from the copyright holder for reproduction. Adaptation of tables and figures also requires reproduction approval. It is the author's responsibility to secure such permission. A copy of the publisher's permission must be provided the Journal Editor upon acceptance of the article for publication.
